The views expressed by contributors are their own and not the views of The Hill. Michael Cohen In Michael Cohen's "explanation" for why he lied to Congress, he says that Donald Trump "used to hold me and my wife [who is one of the women whose claims he denied before the House Oversight Committee] at his clubs in NY, his family and the staff at Trump Tower at his request when we stayed there ... and that as a result, I felt it was necessary to rebut directly his lies and defend my family." In other words, he said, "Donald Trump asked me to lie about how often I've seen him and what he did." When and where did Trump ever request that you lie about anything? Please explain. Also, did you ever lie to the Trump Organization, to which you belong? "I did what he asked me to do." What does that mean? You're not a lawyer; you're a liar. If Trump "asked" you to lie, and you said to yourself: "I'll lie and take the consequences," that's not "doing what he asked." Michael Cohen - the Trump defender who lied to Congress Let's talk about serious crimes: You lied under oath to Congress about the negotiations of a Trump Organization building on the Moscow project, Trump Tower in Moscow. You and your lawyer lied to Congress about Trump's knowledge of that tower. You lied to Congress about Trump's knowledge of your trips to Prague to pay off women who say they had affairs with him. You and your lawyer lied to Congress about your consulting for the Trump organization in Russia. You lied to Congress about Trump's knowledge of those payments. You lied to Congress about being at the Trump Tower meeting about the Putin project. You lied to Congress about your speaking fees. You lied to Congress about not being aware of these things. You lied about being at Trump's side for 17 years, beginning when he made you his attorney. You lied about a number of his business deals. You lied about your $130,000 payments to Stormy Daniels. Trump praises Michael Cohen, claims the attorney is a "Gentleman" and is "very talented." He's a liar, not a gentleman, and he
